

LEADERS IN ADVANCE ORAL REHABILITATION WITH DENTAL IMPLANTS (TEETH-IN-A-DAY)

The miracle is not to fly in the air, or to walk on water; but to walk on earth. Why not do so confidently with healthy and beautiful teeth, so you can live your life to the fullest, and eat and smile again.

Almost half the adults in the United States have missing teeth, and approximately 37 million are edentulous. That number is projected to grow to 49 million by 2020. Right now, someone turns 50 every 7.1 seconds. That's 12,500 people every day. The fifty-and-older generation will represent 45 percent of all Americans in just three years. Ninety percent of these patients address their dental problems with removable prosthetics (dentures and partial dentures), leaving them to feel orally handicapped due to fit, form, function and aesthetic problems. The demand for dental implants is rising exponentially. Almost 80 percent of consumers with missing teeth are now aware of dental implants. Dental implants produce immediate patient satisfaction to the point where it is possible to treat virtually every edentulous patient with aesthetic and a functionally fixed (NO DENTURES) solution. Teeth~No Dentures™ and the Center for Implants, Sedation and Cosmetic Dentistry gives every patient a fixed permanent solution with the All-On-4 dental implant concept using Teeth-In-A-Day and even Teeth-In-An-Hour methods. Here are some of the complaints and issues of patients when they come to see us. See if you too have any of these common issues...

PERIODONTAL DISEASE

We have seen patients that have been in a "watchful neglect" with periodontal disease where their dentist and/or periodontist are just "nursing" the problem by "watching" the periodontal disease. They are not informing you about how bad these toxins are and the need to remove them; and that's not getting to the root of the problem. Periodontal disease is just being maintained at that point, not getting worse but NOT getting better. You will see your dentist or periodontist every two or three months for scaling and/or root planning, just to maintain! Periodontal disease will eat away bone. Don't let it eat away your options. There is a fixed solution with dental implants!

ATROPHY (BONE LOSS)

We see patients that tell us, My dentist never told me that if you lose teeth and wear a denture you will get atrophy (jaw bone loss). Atrophy will make it difficult to wear your denture, the denture will feel like it's sliding around in your mouth and hopefully not out of your mouth. If you leave it alone, the denture will not fit no matter what method you try, then it will break. The bone loss will continue, but if you have implants, the bone will maintain with function. You can go to a fixed solution and not worry about dentures anymore, and have a permanent solution with teeth that stay in your mouth. You can eat like when you had your natural teeth. Natural teeth have 150 to 250 pounds per square inch (PSI) of chewing power. New dentures are around 50 PSI. Dentures after 15 years can have as little as 6 PSI. But, with implants, you can restore 95 percent of the chewing pressure of natural teeth.

FAILED ROOT CANAL AND CROWNS THEN BRIDGES.

We see a sea of patients that have been put on a dental treadmill of doing root canal, crowns over and over again and spending time, money and agony on conventional dentistry when all that is failing. Our philosophy is to save the patients natural teeth as long as possible, but there are circumstances and situations when it is actually bad for the patient regarding a health standpoint, then it is better off with extractions and implants.

MINI-IMPLANTS

Mini-Implants do not live up to the hype of a permanent solution. As a grown-up, you deserve regular implants and a permanent fixed solution with conventional implants. We have patients who report that their spouse had "Mini" dental implants, and--after a while--removed the mini implants by taking out their own dentures and seeing the mini implants came with them. When they go back to the dentist they're told there's nothing that can be done and the problem is their's, not the dentist. This is not fair to the patient. I guess the old saying "you get what you pay for" is true. We are in the 21st century and it's a shame to see this level of dental care is still being advocated and provided in our community due to a lack of advanced post-dental school education. Dentistry has changed and continues to change. Continuing education is a must for anyone practicing TOMORROW'S DENTISTRY TODAY. If you are getting real implants, don't suffer with bone grafts and sinus lifts. Our exclusive patented technique for the upper jaw (No Jaw Bone Solution™) Zygomatic (long) dental implants have helped many of our patients that were told they needed extensive bone grafting prior to dental implant placement. These patients left with fixed teeth in their mouth in a day without any bone grafting procedures.

FEAR - DENTAL PHOBIA

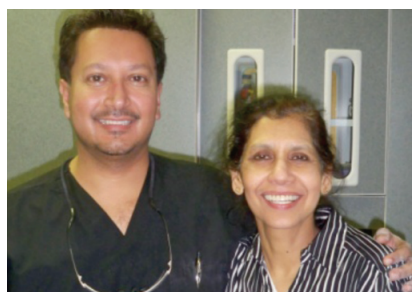

There are roughly 145 million Americans who avoid their dentist. About half of those individuals are fearful because of a painful visit as an adult, or from decades of childhood trauma. That could be you. Fears like these are made worse because the concept of pain management and sedation were never a priority for their dentists. Dr. Atcha's Sedation Dentistry Method™ is designed for you if you have any fear, no matter how big or small. Typical patients say it's the easiest dental visit ever, that they had no memory of treatment, and that a four- or five-hour appointment seemed like only a few minutes. We've converted dental phobics into dental missionaries.

Dr. Atcha and his team are leaders in the field of dental implant surgery and prosthetics. From award winning discoveries to teaching other dentists and surgeon's about the latest techniques. He uses the most innovative approaches to treat the never-been-possible-before. We have the best training, technology, and tools in the country that enables us to deliver care with the highest levels of accuracy and precision, including our state of the art surgical suite with 3-D imaging capabilities that can take live images before after and most importantly during our implant surgery.
